Voluntary Prekindergarten (VPK) is a state program designed to prepare every child in Florida for kindergarten and build the foundation for their educational success. VPK gives each child an opportunity to perform better in school and throughout life with quality programs that include high literacy standards, accountability, appropriate curricula, substantial instruction periods, manageable class sizes and qualified instructors. All eligible children are entitled to participate in one of three VPK program options. The VPK mission is to ensure that all children are intellectually, socially, emotionally and physically ready to enter school and ready to learn. The VPK program fully recognizes the crucial role of parents as their child’s first teacher.

Program Highlights

• High-quality educational program with an early literacy focus.
• Free for all 4 and young 5–years-olds who reside in Florida.
• Participating children must be 4 years of age on or before Sept. 1. Parents whose children are born from Feb. 2 through Sept. 1 of a calendar year may choose to enroll their child in VPK either that year or the next when the child is 5 and before they enroll in kindergarten.
• Parent choice is a priority, so both private and public providers participate.
Choosing a VPK Program

Parent choice is a VPK priority.

There are different program options and educational settings such as family child care homes, private centers, public schools, faith-based programs and specialized instructional services providers. All providers must meet VPK program and quality standards. Parents choose the program and setting that best fit the needs of their family.

Program Options

Parents may choose one of three VPK program options.
- School-year program – 540 hours of instruction with class sizes of no more than 20.
- Summer program – 300 instructional hours and class sizes no more than 12; children may participate in VPK the summer before the school year the child will attend kindergarten.
- VPK Specialized Instructional Services – Certified or licensed professionals provide instruction or therapy in individual or small group settings for eligible children with special needs. The child must have a current individualized educational plan (IEP) from a local school district.

Services vary based on the program you select. VPK providers choose the structure for the hours per day and days per week to meet the instructional hours required.
Finding a VPK Program

Resources to help you decide which is the best program.

1. Visit the Department of Children and Families (DCF) website https://cares.myflfamilies.com/PublicSearch to view profiles for each VPK provider you are considering.
2. Contact your local early learning coalition. Coalitions work in all Florida communities to implement early learning support services and have more information about VPK. You can find coalition contact information on the Division of Early Learning website www.FloridaEarlyLearning.com on the map or by calling 866-357-3239 (TTY:711).
3. View a copy of the profiles of each VPK provider and school in your county at your local early learning coalition.
4. Contact your local Child Care Resource and Referral office to receive a customized list of VPK providers in your area that meet the needs of your family. You can also get information about other community resources. CCR&R services are free to anyone residing in or seeking early learning services in Florida. For the number of the local CCR&R, please call the Division of Early Learning toll free at 1-866-357-3239 (TTY: 711).
What to Expect from VPK

Program Guarantees
VPK is free for eligible children. Providers are not permitted to charge a registration fee or require you to agree to any additional services or wraparound services as a condition of enrolling in VPK. State law does not, however, prohibit a provider from charging fees for programs or care that is not part of the VPK program (e.g., late charges, field trips, extended care or wraparound care). If field trips are part of a VPK day, providers may request that a parent contribute, but cannot require them to do so. The provider must also have an alternative activity for a child who does not attend a field trip.

VPK programs guarantee the following:

1. An approved VPK program with no cost for the VPK hours of operation.
2. Participation in school-year, summer or specialized instructional services program.
3. The choice of paying for extended day services or wraparound care if the VPK provider you choose offers it. Wraparound care is any care the provider offers in addition to regular VPK hours.

Before finalizing your selection, review the VPK provider’s discipline and attendance policies to learn about program policies and practices.
What to Expect from VPK

VPK Provider Standards

VPK providers are required to meet the following standards:
• Private providers must have a director with a VPK director credential.
• Private providers must be licensed (child care, family child care home or large family child care home); be exempt from licensure (certain private schools or faith-based providers); or be accredited by an approved accrediting association.
• Specialized instructional services providers must be licensed or certified professionals. Check with your local early learning coalition for more detail.
• Parents may contact the coalition to confirm if a provider offers VPK.

VPK Class Standards

Teacher qualifications are important for delivering high-quality instruction. VPK instructors must meet minimum education standards. Ratio and group size also indicate quality. When deciding, parents should ask potential providers about teacher qualifications and classroom requirements.

VPK programs must employ qualified VPK instructors and meet minimum classroom requirements, including
• Every lead VPK instructor must at a minimum have a Child Development Associate (CDA) Credential for the school-year program or a bachelor’s degree or higher for the summer program.
• VPK classroom ratios must be one instructor to every 11 children in the school-year program and one to 12 in the summer.
• VPK class size must not exceed 20 children in the school-year program.
• VPK class size must not exceed 12 children in the summer program.
What to Expect from VPK

Quality Instruction

VPK programs must deliver high-quality instruction including:
- A curriculum that is developmentally appropriate with a focus on early literacy and early math skills.
- A program that prepares children to be ready for kindergarten based on standards adopted by the State Board of Education for use in VPK.

To best meet children’s needs and prepare them for future school success, VPK curriculum must be age-appropriate and align with state performance standards. Performance standards provide guidelines to teachers about what children should know and be able to do so they can plan instructional activities for young children. The activities involve engaging in child-initiated and teacher-directed play opportunities. When deciding about the best VPK provider for their children, parents should ask about curriculum and planned activities to determine if the program activities meet the guidelines for quality early learning practices.

Changing VPK Providers

Parents may withdraw their children from VPK at any time. They may reenroll their child in another VPK program under specific conditions:
- Parents may apply for extreme hardship reenrollment for eligible children in the summer program if the children have not completed more than 70 percent of the school-year VPK hours.
- Parents may apply to reenroll their children within the same program type as long as the children have not completed more than 70 percent of VPK hours.

If you have any questions about reenrolling your child, contact your local early learning coalition or the Division of Early Learning toll free: 1-866-357-3239 (TTY: 711).
Did You Know?

Parents have the right to enroll their child in a VPK program (subject to the provider’s or school’s agreement to admit the child), including families

- Who have a child with a disability. While IEPs are not required to be served in VPK, VPK providers are required to make their programs accessible to children with disabilities under the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act.

- In the military, temporarily based in Florida.

- Who may be displaced due to a hurricane or other natural disaster or are experiencing homelessness.

The only residency requirement is that children live in Florida during the time they are attending VPK. This means that children living in Florida temporarily are eligible for services.
Applying for VPK

Parents apply online for their child to attend VPK on the Family Portal at https://familyservices.floridaearlylearning.com/. In the application parents must provide documentation to prove their child meets the VPK age and Florida residency requirements.

Age Requirements

A child must be 4 years of age on or before Sept. 1 to be eligible for VPK or, for children born from Feb. 2 through Sept. 1, parents may choose to enroll their child in VPK that year or the next when their child is 5 and before they enroll in kindergarten.

You have to submit one of the following approved supporting documents that shows the child’s name and date of birth:

- An original or certified copy of the child’s birth record.
- An original or certified copy of the child’s certificate of baptism or other religious record accompanied by an affidavit sworn to by the child’s parent that the certificate is correct.
- An insurance policy on the child’s life that is in force for at least two years.
- A passport or certificate of arrival in the United States.
- An immunization record signed by a health officer or doctor.
- A valid military dependent identification card or federal, state or local government identification card.
- A parent may submit a notarized affidavit of the child’s age accompanied by a certificate of age accompanied by a letter on official letterhead signed by a public health officer or physician stating that the child’s age shown in the affidavit is true and correct.
Applying for VPK

Residency Requirements

Parents must provide documentation to prove their child lives in Florida when they complete the VPK application. A child living in Florida is eligible for VPK with the proper documentation.

You have to submit one of the following supporting documents showing the name and residential address of the parent with whom the child resides:
- Utility, cable, internet, cellular or home phone bill dated within 12 months of the child application.
- Pay stub dated within 12 months of the child application.
- Residential rental agreement or receipt for rental payment dated within 12 months of the child application.
- Government-issued document (e.g., driver’s license).
- Military order issued to the parent, if the parent is a service member of the United States Armed Forces, showing that the parent will reside in Florida when the child attends VPK.
- Federal government order showing that the child’s parent is a federal employee assigned to work in Florida when the child attends the VPK program.
- Florida Migrant Education Program Certificate of Eligibility (COE) form.
- COE form from the Florida Department of Education.
- Notarized affidavit by the parent of the child’s residential address accompanied by a letter from landlord, property owner or property lessee confirming the child resides at the same address shown in the parent’s affidavit.
- Documentation of residency for a homeless child based on other documents (e.g., letter from a homeless shelter, homeless referral, student residency questionnaire issued by the local school district or notarized statement from the child’s parent).

If you have questions about VPK age or residency requirements, contact your local early learning coalition or the Division of Early Learning toll free at 1-866-447-1159.
Parent Responsibilities

What you need to know.

Transportation

Parents are responsible for their child’s transportation to and from VPK. Some VPK providers may offer transportation services at a cost. You may want to explore these options before choosing a VPK provider.

VPK Provider Policies

VPK providers have individual policies related to attendance, discipline and late fees. Parents should become familiar with policies that apply to children in VPK before enrolling their child. Ask questions about any policies you do not understand before enrolling your child.

- Parents have the responsibility to make sure their child attends the VPK program on a regular basis.
- Parents have the responsibility to understand and agree to all of the VPK provider’s policies (e.g., attendance, discipline, late fees).

Transition to Kindergarten and Resources

When families are actively engaged in their child’s transition to a new learning program, the child performs better socially and academically. This is especially important in the transition from VPK to kindergarten in order for the child to feel safe and secure. Children whose families learn about the new school setting, school policies, and have positive relationships with the teachers and other school staff show greater school readiness, less stress at the beginning of school and stronger academic growth during the school year. Here are some resources to help with the transition.
